

Alternative methods of connecting to the Internet should be encouraged to allow for a more competitive environment and reduced cost to the consumer. Power lines are available in practically every home and hence make alot of the sense if the technology allows for multiple use. Its also an excellent opportunity to reduce wirring costs within the house by utilizing a common wire for power, internet, phone (VoIP), video (streaming IP), etc. As a taxpayer and voter I would like to see this capability be made available ASAP. Thank you.
